Chapter 1 by Alessandro Nunes

I just decided to make a log of my travel. But before it starts, I would like to talk about me, because the rest is just about her. Maybe this recording could go back to Earth someday. That day people will know about her, the sorcerer, and this could change everything.

I didn't always want to be an astronaut. I grew up with games since Atari era, and that was my first way to get out of this world. Then came the comics, and Jules Verne books. I was a small boy, with common dark brown eyes and dark brow short hair. Shy, good with numbers, my family though I was going to be an accountant, or a lawyer. On certain point I just wanna make games. So I decided to study computers and programming related things.

But that wasn't enough. I would like to make a difference, like the superheroes or the main character on a book. So I decided to get out of the planet.

To become an astronaut is a hard path. It is something like to be the best on a sport. But the training happens not only on your body, because you will need it, but on your mind. A space company don't send anyone to take care of a million dollar equipment. You have to be like a perfect human: total equilibrium on body and mind.

There were another people crazy. See more of Story Wars. I life to become an floating body in space. So, I had to be be... this had to be a fully dedication. Sometimes I feel
